

Advanced Project Management Skills

Two-day project simulation workshop

Advanced Project Management Skills Workshop

Our advanced simulation workshop gives you the chance to put your project management skills into practice. You'll be working as part of a team to build a multi-million-pound sports stadium.

On day one you'll meet the project's stakeholders and assess their priorities for time, cost, quality and risk. You'll also need to agree a procurement strategy and negotiate a contract.

On the second day your team will allocate resources to the project and create the budget and schedule. The simulation will then allow you to manage your plan as you respond to a range of real-world risks and issues.

At the end of the simulation the stakeholders will provide detailed feedback on your team's performance.

Why Simulate?

Most people learn by doing. Complex skills can best be developed by allowing people to make decisions - and then experience the consequences of those decisions in a safe environment.

Traditional teaching methods alone are ineffective. Passive learning methods such as lectures and slide presentations are not always the most effective methods for developing complex skills. Our simulations are a highly engaging way of learning.

Cost effective team development. Simulations are a great way of helping a project team to work collaboratively online. You can train up to 20 people in one or two days for less than the cost of sending a single delegate on a traditional classroom course.

Our solution is a true innovation. We are proud to work in partnership with Prendo Simulations. Their pioneering simulations model the ambiguous nature of many of the challenges project managers face, including complex and unpredictable human dynamics.
